The Inland Empire non-profit organization, Children's Resources, Inc. is the recipient of a $20,000 grant awarded by the Verizon Foundation. Verizon, which promotes Internet safety and education, selected Children's Resources because of its ground breaking "Bully Proof" educational program, which teaches students and parents about the dangers of cyber bullying while promoting empathy and conflict resolution strategies. "We want parents to understand what bullying looks like so that they can discourage their own children from engaging in it," says program director, Shannon O'Brien.

The grant will be used in collaboration with the San Bernardino City Unified School District to provide free parent educational workshops at the District's Family Resource Center, as well as Curtis and Serrano Middle Schools. For more information contact Children's Resources at (909) 266-9131. For more information about the Verizon Foundation, please visit: <http://foundation.verizon.com>
